"Today's cosmetic patient wants the full range of services, from surgical to noninvasive. The MediSpa is a seamless extension of that, offering preventive and restorative therapies aimed at improving appearance and overall skin health," says cosmetic surgeon and MilfordMD Medical Director, Dr. Richard Buckley. women who come to us for body sculpting, cellulite reducing treatments or leg vein removal procedures often find our MediSpa's body waxing services help them show off their new beach-ready bodies."

The MediSpa and professional skin care services offered also are a perfect fix-me-up for people who aren't cosmetic surgery patients, but want to do something that noninvasively addresses skin aging, sun damage, unwanted hair and more. "The MediSpa is a beauty retreat for people who aren't interested in having surgery, laser procedures, injectables and neurotoxins. Since the MediSpa services are offered in a physician's practice, they're considered safer and more effective than what one might get with at-home kits. We understand the skin and know how to treat it, regardless of whether we take a surgical or noninvasive approach," Dr. Buckley says.

MilfordMD's MediSpa offers customized skin care options. For example, clients interested in the HydraFacial MD, which is an exciting advance in non-invasive, non-laser skin resurfacing and rejuvenation, can focus the treatment on skin health, pigmentation, problem skin or lines and wrinkles. Andrea will often use a combination approach, including LED technology or lymphatic drainage to achieve optimal results.

Other MediSpa services include facials and peels—each designed with a goal in mind. The deep cleanse is for acne and oily skin, whereas the back facial addresses skin concerns on the back. The Parisian Peel MD is microdermabrasion, and this treatment to clear skin imperfections can target the face, hands and décolleté.

Body waxing is one of Andrea's specialties. Whether she's waxing the legs, the bikini area, underarms, brows or performing a Brazilian wax, clients generally are more comfortable and get better results because of Andrea's technique and quality of wax. "Our MilfordMD MediSpa clients are amazed when they realize how much more comfortable waxing can be when quality wax and proven techniques are used," says Andrea, who has practiced as a licensed aesthetician for 11 years in the Tri-State area, including in Manhattan, the Hudson Valley, and the Poconos.
