Earns CoolSculpting Certification

MilfordMD Cosmetic Dermatology Surgery & Laser Center announces that Dr. Marina Buckley has completed the CoolSculpting Certification program. The certification recognizes physicians and practices that have a comprehensive understanding of how the CoolSculpting technology and procedure work.

“Completion of this program will build a solid foundation for you and your staff to ensure a successful CoolSculpting practice,” according to Coolsculpting.com. The MilfordMD CoolSculpting team has also completed advanced training at CoolSculpting University, putting them in the top 5% of practices offering CoolSculpting treatments.

The announcement comes on the heels of several successful “CoolEvents” at the Milford, PA, cosmetic practice. CoolEvents are open to the public and build awareness about CoolSculpting, the world’s number one non-invasive fat removal treatment. These free events at MilfordMD, during which Dr. Marina Buckley introduces the technology, have been a resounding success.

“There’s a lot of demand for this fat-freezing approach to fat reduction,” Dr. Marina Buckley says. “And we’re pleased to say, it does not disappoint. Not only are patients happy with their results, but they’re coming in for other minimally invasive and noninvasive options—from skin tightening and cellulite reduction to facial rejuvenation.”

In addition to CoolSculpting, MilfordMD offers the spectrum of body sculpting options. This includes surgical approaches, such as Laser Lipo, to minimally invasive ProLipo and SmartLipo, to skin-tightening and cellulite-reducing options, such as Venus Freeze.

CoolSculpting is the only FDA-cleared non-invasive fat reduction treatment shown to safely target and eliminate fat cells through the use of controlled cooling. “CoolSculpting has changed the body sculpting demographic,” says MilfordMD Medical Director and cosmetic surgeon Dr. Richard Buckley. “It’s not a surgical procedure; it’s done in the office, and patients typically can go back to work or activity the day of the procedure. So, younger, active, hard-working, and hard playing people who are bothered by unwanted fat but who don’t want surgery are coming in for CoolSculpting.”

The fat reduction technology works by freezing only the fat cells targeted for removal. The frozen cells naturally crystalize, and the body eliminates them over time. “Those cells don’t come back. For patients who maintain their body weight, the fat is essentially gone forever,” Dr. Richard Buckley says.

Receiving word of MilfordMD’s CoolSculpting certification is important to not only the physicians and staff at MilfordMD, but also patients, Dr. Richard Buckley says. “We have high quality standards at MilfordMD,” he says. “When procedures become as popular as CoolSculpting has, there are many different types of providers who try to get a piece of the pie. The problem is not everybody is adequately trained or has experience in other types of body sculpting. It’s very important for patients that they seek out a physician who has experience in CoolSculpting, as well as other types of cosmetic surgery. They should ask to see patient results—even talk to patients at the practice who have had the procedure—before agreeing to let anyone perform CoolSculpting on them.”

“Our goal is to offer people who want to make small changes to their bodies, as well as those who have more extensive body sculpting in mind, the spectrum of cosmetic surgery options, in a safe environment, and under the care of experienced cosmetic physicians,” Dr. Richard Buckley says.

WHAT A DILEMMA

To laugh is to risk appearing a fool.
To weep is to risk appearing sentimental.
To reach out for another is to risk involvement.
To expose feelings is to risk rejection.
To place your visions before the crowd is to risk ridicule.
To love is to risk not being loved in return.
**To go forward in the face of overwhelming odds is to risk failure.
But risks must be taken, because the greatest hazard in life is to risk nothing.
The person who risks nothing, does nothing, has nothing, is nothing.
We may avoid suffering and sorrow, but we cannot learn, feel, change, grow, love or know GOD.
Chained by our own self-assurances, we are a slave. We have forfeited our freedom.
Only the person who dares to take risk and to trust in their GOD will ever be made FREE.

In 1997, Rev. Edwin E. Bailey, father of the editor, gave this poem to his daughter 8 days before he had a stroke and 3 weeks before he died. The poem was adapted from works by Leo Buscaglia. Edwin hand wrote this on a scrap of paper and gave it to his daughter, Deborah, saying the words, “Someday you’ll understand these words and use them. God bless sweetheart.” **These words were used in making the decision to purchase Connections Magazine in 2002.
